Description
In the Paphos village of Theletra, this sloping field covers 11,706 m² of countryside. About half of the land lies in a residential zone and about half in an agricultural zone. That gives room for farming or planting on one part and residential use on the other. The plot is irregular in shape.

The land has no direct road access. Old Theletra and the village of Kathikas are both a short drive away.

It is a sizeable field of sloping ground with mixed residential and agricultural zoning in the Theletra countryside.
