Description
Village life sets the tone here. The centre of Pigenia lies within walking distance, and the beach is only a short way off. This residential field in Nicosia District covers a sizeable 3,113 m² within the community.

Zoned for residential use, the land gives room for a home. Its sloping surface and irregular shape call for a design that works with the ground rather than against it. The land has no direct road access.

Picture a morning stroll into the village centre for the day's first coffee, and an afternoon spent by the sea. Village rhythms and the coast are both part of everyday life in Pigenia.

A residential field set within village life, with the sea never far away.
