Description
Fertile ground with trees already growing on it gives this agricultural field in Psathi a practical start for farming or planting. The soil can be cultivated, and the land covers 4,181 m², with a sloping surface and an irregular shape. The field has no direct road access.

It lies close to the centre of Psathi village in the Paphos district, with the neighbouring villages of Agios Dimitrianos and Thrinia also nearby. The zoning is agricultural, in line with its use as farmland. This is a fertile, workable field with trees, ready for cultivation.
