Description
A 660 m² plot on the market in Evrychou, Cyprus, set within a residential area of this Nicosia district village. The land is rectangular and well-proportioned, with a sloping surface and direct road access. Although the plot lies in an agricultural zone, the planning authorities allow it to be used for residential development, so a home can be built here. Main roads are within walking distance. The village centre, petrol stations and the neighbouring villages of Temvria and Korakou are a short drive away. This is a practical, rectangular plot in Evrychou with a clear allowance for residential use.
