Description
Life in Vyzakia moves at a gentler pace, and this residential field offers a generous 3345 m² in which to think about a home of your own. Set among the hills of the Nicosia countryside, the village keeps the warmth of authentic Cypriot life, with its centre, schools and public offices all a short drive away.

The land has an irregular shape and a sloping surface, giving it a natural, landscape-led character rather than a flat suburban feel. Its residential zoning points to a family home, shaped around the gentle incline of the ground. The field is landlocked, with no direct road access of its own.

Neighbouring villages such as Nikitari are close by, while supermarkets, cafés and petrol stations lie within an easy drive. Main roads and the Astromeritis to Evrychou motorway keep the wider district within comfortable reach.

A drive into the hills brings you to Panagia tis Asinou, one of the island's treasured painted churches, a reminder of the deep roots and traditional village charm that make this corner of Cyprus such a rewarding place to settle.
