Description
Picture days that end with a short drive down to the beaches, then back to a home of your own in Argaka. That is the promise of this residential field in the Paphos district, a sizeable plot with room to shape a house around the life you have in mind.

The land covers 1,673 m² and lies in a residential zone, so a home is its natural use. It gives you a generous canvas to plan at your own pace, from the layout of the house to how it sits on the land.

Argaka keeps everyday life within reach, with supermarkets and shops a short drive away for the weekly round. For journeys further afield, Paphos International Airport is about 40 km away, which makes coming and going simple whether you plan to settle here or visit often.

A residential plot in Argaka, with the beaches a short drive away and space to build the home you picture. Well worth a closer look.
