Description
Within the Potami community in the Nicosia district, this agricultural field covers 2,676 m² of flat ground in an almost rectangular shape, a regular layout that suits farming or planting. A rainwater stream runs along one of its boundaries.

Old animal farm structures built from poor materials stand on the land. The field has no direct road access. The village centre of Potami is a short drive away, as is the neighbouring village of Vyzakia.

This is a flat, regular piece of farmland in the Potami countryside.
