For Sale : € 800

Description
Village life in the Larnaca countryside sets the tone for this residential field in Troulloi, a small community with a strong local identity and an easy, unhurried rhythm. The land sits within the village setting, not far from its centre, where everyday life still centres on familiar faces and a close-knit community.

The field is regular in shape with an even surface, so it is simple to picture and easy to understand on the ground. It also has direct road access, a practical advantage that makes the land uncomplicated to reach. Its residential zoning points to its natural purpose as a setting for a home, surrounded by the authentic side of Cyprus rather than dense resort development.

Troulloi offers an honest alternative to city living, with open landscape around it and the wider Larnaca district within reach. This sale is for a one-ninth share of the land.

A level, well-shaped residential field with its own road access, rooted in genuine Cypriot village life.
