For Sale : € 169,000

Description
Pissouri gives this residential field its setting: a large stretch of land of 11,372 m² in the Limassol district, with room for a home on residential ground. Size is its first appeal, enough land to plan a house around open space rather than squeeze one in. Direct road access is the second. A registered road leads straight to the field, so reaching it is simple from the start. The village centre is a short drive away, and the motorway between Limassol and Paphos is easy to reach. Paphos International Airport lies about 20 km off, which helps when you come and go from abroad. Picture standing on the land in the early morning and sketching where a future home might sit. A large residential plot with its own road access, close to village life, could be where your next chapter takes shape.
