For Sale : € 198,000

Description
On the edge of Peristerona, a Paphos village where life keeps a slower, more neighbourly pace, two residential fields come together to offer 14,047 m² of land. The village centre is only a short distance away, and the main road through the area runs close by, so village life and wider travel both sit comfortably within reach.

Both fields lie in a residential zone, where homes of up to two floors may be built. A registered road runs along a long stretch of their boundary, giving the land direct road access. There is generous room here to picture a family home set well back within its own grounds, with open space all around it.

Weekend outings come naturally from here. Evretou Lake is a short drive away, as is the neighbouring village of Steni, while the shops and cafés of the local area keep everyday errands simple.

Generous land, a residential setting and a village close at hand make this a place where a long-held plan for a home in the Paphos countryside can begin to take shape.
