Description
Picture stepping out of your own front door in Omodos and strolling to a village café for your morning coffee. Restaurants, cafés and schools are all within walking distance, so everyday life here can unfold at the easy pace of a Limassol village. This residential field brings that life within reach. At 5,017 m² and almost rectangular in shape, it is a sizeable, regular piece of land in a residential zone, with room for a home of up to two floors. Its simple outline makes it easy to imagine how a house could sit on the land and how the rest could be laid out around it. A public road lies close by. Beyond the village streets, the Troodos National Forest Park is a drive away, bringing the forest within reach whenever you want a change of scene. The village centre and neighbouring Vasa Koilaniou are a short drive. It is a chance to plan a home on generous land, with a village table and the school run just a walk away.
