Description
In Peristerona, in the Nicosia District, lies a flat, rectangular agricultural field of 2,980 m². The level ground suits farming and planting, and its regular shape makes the land simple to lay out and work.

The field has direct road access along a registered road with a long frontage, and a main road runs close by. The village centre is a short drive away, and the motorways towards Nicosia are within driving distance. The sale is a half share of the field. It is level, regular farmland with good road frontage in the Peristerona countryside.
