Description
In the countryside of Peristerona, in the Nicosia District, this field covers 2,676 m² of agricultural land designated for animal breeding. Its rectangular shape gives a regular, easy-to-plan layout across the whole plot.

The village centre is a short drive away, as is neighbouring Orounta. A main road lies a short distance from the land, and the wider area has easy access to the main road network. This is a regular, rectangular field with a stated animal-breeding use, in the Peristerona countryside.
