Description
The Solea Valley spreads all around, and Troodos National Forest Park lies within walking distance. This sizeable field sits in the tranquil hill village of Kakopetria, a popular mountain destination in the Nicosia district, where the natural landscape sets the tone of daily life.

The field covers 13,406 m² of residential land. It offers room for a home or, as its size allows, a larger residential development, with buildings of up to two floors permitted. The ground slopes and has an irregular shape, which suits a tiered design that makes the most of the mountain landscape around it. A pathway crosses part of the land, and an asphalted road is close by.

Picture mornings that start with a walk into the forest park, and the village centre only a short drive away for errands or an unhurried coffee. Here, village surroundings and open mountain scenery meet.

It is a generous stretch of hillside in Kakopetria, shaped by the slope and framed by the natural beauty of Troodos and the Solea Valley.
