For Sale : € 160,000

Description
On the developing outskirts of Geri, this level residential plot offers a calm starting point for a new home, with everyday Nicosia life within easy reach. Schools, shops and cafés are a short drive away, and neighbouring Latsia is close at hand for errands and evenings out.

The land has a regular shape and an even surface, which keeps planning and construction straightforward from the very first sketch. It has direct road access, and its residential zoning allows homes of up to two floors. There is scope here for a contemporary housing complex or a private estate.

Picture drawing up a home on flat, well-proportioned ground, shaped around your own way of living rather than someone else's floor plan. The village setting and the nearby town centre give that home a sense of community and convenience.

The sale is of a 33% share of the field. Under a distribution agreement, this share corresponds to two defined plots within it. A well-shaped, even site with its own road frontage, on the edge of Geri.
