For Sale : € 110,000

Description
Athienou, in the Larnaca district, is the setting for this large field in a residential zone, where the idea of a home can begin to take shape. The whole field covers 7,024 m², giving generous room to picture how a house might one day sit on the land.

Village life is close by. The local primary school is not far away, part of the everyday rhythm of the community around the field. It is a setting where daily routines stay rooted in the village.

The residential zoning makes a home the natural use of the land, a clear starting point for anyone thinking about building in Athienou. The field has no direct road access.

The sale is for a 41.67% share of the field.

A sizeable piece of residential land in Athienou, with space to imagine a home taking shape in village surroundings.
