Description
Close to the centre of Agios Theodoros Soleas, this sizeable field of residential land offers something simple and appealing: room to plan a home of your own design, with village life only a few steps away.

Covering 11,037 m², the land gives generous scope to set a home within its own grounds, with plenty of space around it. It also has a stretch of frontage, which helps when you begin to picture how a home could sit on the land.

Everyday life here is centred on the village, where you can walk to the centre for the small routines of the day. When you need a little more, Evrychou is a short drive away, and the Solea Reservoir is also a short drive away for time outdoors by the water.

A large piece of residential land, close to the heart of a village and its surroundings, waiting for the home you have in mind.
