Description
Pano Pyrgos keeps its village centre close by, and this compact field sits just outside it. Homes, farmland and open parcels surround it, a mix that shows how village and countryside meet in this part of Nicosia district.

The land lies within a residential zone, so its general use follows the homes around it. At 26 m², it is a very small parcel, a modest holding rather than a large plot. The land has no direct road access.

Life in the area centres on the village itself, with neighbouring Kato Pyrgos a short drive away for wider everyday needs. For a slower afternoon, Gialia Monastery is within a drive and offers a quiet piece of the region's heritage.

A small piece of Pano Pyrgos, set close to the centre of village life.
