Description
Ancient history feels close in Kouklia, where the Sanctuary of Aphrodite lies just a short distance from this large residential field. The village centre is near as well, with its shops, cafés and schools within walking distance, so everyday life keeps an easy, local rhythm.

The land covers 25,753 m² and is mostly flat, with only a small area sloping gently. A long stretch of its edge runs along a public concrete road, giving direct road access, and water, electricity and telecommunication services are already in place. The residential zoning leaves room for a home of up to two floors.

The wider neighbourhood is growing, with residential developments at different stages of building around it. Paphos International Airport is a drive away, and the nearby villages of Nikokleia and Souskiou are a short drive away.

A sizeable stretch of mostly level ground, with services and road access already there, sits in a village where the sanctuary and the everyday life of Kouklia are both close at hand.
