Description
In the Agios Konstantinos & Elenis quarter of Dali, surrounded by mid to high specification homes, this large residential field opens up 18,957 m² of land to shape around your own plans. It is a setting where a new home would sit comfortably among well-built neighbours.

The land fronts roads on several of its borders, giving it direct road access from more than one side. Its surface slopes gently, and electricity, water and telecommunications can be brought to the site. The residential zoning allows a home of up to two floors, with room to place it thoughtfully across a sizeable plot.

Everyday life stays close at hand. The centre of Dali is a short drive away for shops, cafés and the rhythm of village life, while the heritage site of Agios Sozomenos, also a short drive, makes for an easy outing on a slow afternoon.

A generous stretch of residential land with roads along its edges, in a neighbourhood of quality homes and with a village close by.
