Description
The walled old city of Nicosia and Eleftheria Square are a short walk from this plot in Trypiotis, right at the heart of the capital. Homes and businesses fill the streets around it, and cafés and restaurants sit just next door, so the city's everyday rhythm is part of the setting.

The land is a neat rectangle with a flat, even surface, which makes it easy to take in at a glance. It has direct road access along a wide frontage. Electricity, water and telecommunications are available.

The zoning is commercial, so the land lends itself to business use in a central neighbourhood. From here, the historic streets within the old walls are part of the daily walk rather than a special outing.

A level, well-shaped plot in the centre of Nicosia, with the old city just a stroll away.
