Description
Village life sets the tone in Tsada, in the Paphos district, where three adjoining fields come together as one sizeable piece of residential land covering 22,748 m². The village centre is a short drive away, and the neighbouring village of Koili is close by too, so everyday errands and a coffee in the square are never far off.

The land has direct road access along a registered road, which keeps arrival simple. Around it, homes already stand among stretches of undeveloped land, giving the surroundings an established residential character with open ground still in view of the neighbourhood.

The residential zoning offers room for a home of up to two floors, with plenty of land around it to plan as you wish. It is easy to imagine settling into the rhythm of the village while having this much space of your own.

Three fields joined as one, direct road access and a village setting close at hand make this a place worth walking in person.
