For Sale : € 725,000

Description
Close to the centre of Kokkinotrimithia, among the homes of a settled residential neighbourhood, lies a sizeable plot of 4,691 m² with room to plan something of your own. Schools, supermarkets and shops sit right beside it, so the rhythm of daily village life begins at the edge of the land.

The plot falls within a residential zone, where homes of up to two floors may be built. Roads surround it, giving direct road access on every side. Provision has already been made to divide it into nine plots, and architectural plans for a residential development are available, so your ideas can start from solid groundwork.

The wider area adds to the appeal. The neighbouring village of Paliometocho is a short drive away, and the green open space of Gerogiannis is close at hand for a weekend walk.

A generous piece of village land with everyday essentials on its doorstep and the freedom to shape what comes next.
