Description
In the village of Tsada, parks and green spaces lie within walking distance, and the village centre is only a short drive away. Here, a plot and the field beside it come together as one sizeable holding of 6,015 m², giving you room to think big about the home you want to create.

The land sits among residential developments and a few undeveloped parcels. It falls within a residential zone, with room for a home of up to two floors. It has direct road access, with frontage onto a no-through road along one side.

Two parcels side by side offer a generous canvas for a purpose-built residence, shaped around your own plans rather than an off-the-shelf design. Picture mornings that begin with a stroll to the green spaces nearby, and everyday errands in the village just a short drive away.

A large stretch of residential land in a village setting, ready for the home you have in mind.
