Description
In the Panagia quarter of Nicosia, among a mix of homes and businesses, this corner plot sits with restaurants and cafés right beside it and the historic old city within the walls only a walk away. The city centre is easy to reach, so daily life and trade are never far from the doorstep.

Its corner position gives it frontage onto two streets and direct road access on both sides, a real asset for a site that wants to be seen. The land is regular in shape with flat, even ground, and it is served by water, electricity and telecommunications. Its 319 m² make a neat, practical footprint in an established part of the city.

With commercial zoning, it suits a business use in a neighbourhood where people already come and go, to eat, to shop and to wander towards the old walls. It is a place to picture a project taking shape on a well-placed city corner.

Two streets, a central Nicosia setting and the old city close at hand give this plot an appeal that is easy to understand.
