Description
Pano Deftera sets this sizeable residential field among scattered homes and open parcels of land, with the comforts of village life close at hand. Supermarkets, shops and schools are a short drive away, so everyday errands fit easily into the day.

The land is square and flat, with a smooth, even surface that is simple to read and to plan around. It fronts a road, giving it direct road access. The land can be connected to electricity, water and telecommunications.

Its residential zoning means there is room for a home, and a house of up to two floors may be built. Picture a family home on a generous, level plot, with open ground around it and neighbouring houses spread out rather than pressed close.

A large, level field in a residential corner of Pano Deftera, waiting for a home to take shape.
