For Sale : € 195,000

Description
Kokkinotrimithia keeps everyday life close at hand. The village primary school is a short walk away, and shops are within walking distance too, so the rhythm of the day can unfold largely on foot.

Here, among residential developments and parcels still waiting for their story, lies a sizeable field of 2,989 m² on residential land. The zoning allows for a home of up to two floors. That leaves room to shape a home around the way you want to live. The land has no direct road access.

Picture mornings when the school run is a gentle stroll rather than a drive, and afternoons when a forgotten item from the shops is simply a walk away. It is the kind of village setting where a home can grow into family life, with the familiar faces and routines of a residential neighbourhood around it.

A generous piece of land in a living village, with school and shops close by and room to build a home of your own.
