Geri brings the ease of village life to the edge of Nicosia,...

For Sale : € 185,000

Description
Geri brings the ease of village life to the edge of Nicosia, and this residential plot places you right in it. Schools, shops and medical centres are all within walking distance, and Latsia is only a short drive away. Daily life here can stay simple and close to home.

The land is flat and even, with an irregular shape and 1,224 m² to work with. It has direct road access along its frontage, and on one side it borders government-owned land. Around it, mid-range residential developments sit alongside plots that are still undeveloped, giving the area a settled residential setting with room still to grow around it.

The residential zoning allows a home of up to two floors. That leaves room to plan a house around the way you want to live: where the family gathers, where the children study, and how the rooms open onto the plot around them.

A level piece of land with road access in a residential corner of Geri, ready to hold the home you have been picturing.
