Description
A corner setting in Archangelos Anthoupoli, Lakatameia, gives this residential plot its character. Road frontage runs along two of its sides, so the land has direct road access and an open, outward-facing position within the neighbourhood.

With 616 m² of residential land, there is room for a home of up to two floors, planned around your own priorities from the very first sketch. Two road-facing sides give you real choice over where the entrance, the frontage and the main rooms should sit, so the house can be shaped to the way you want to live rather than to a ready-made layout.

Around the plot, homes stand alongside parcels still waiting for their own houses. Everyday life stays within easy reach: schools and supermarkets are a short drive away, and neighbouring Strovolos is close by too.

A corner of Lakatameia where a home of your own design can take shape.
