Pine trees stand on this residential plot in Kornos,
a villa...

For Sale : € 132,000

Description
Pine trees stand on this residential plot in Kornos, a village where new homes keep appearing among older houses and cottages. There is room here for a home of up to two floors, with control over its layout and materials from the very start. The land measures 1,752 m² and has a rectangular shape, with direct road access along its frontage. It slopes and sits below the level of the road, so any design will need to work with the ground. The immediate neighbourhood mixes luxury residential developments and detached family houses with open fields and plots still waiting for a purpose. The village centre is close by, and Nicosia, Larnaca and Limassol are all within reach for work, family or a day out. Larnaca International Airport is about 20 km away. Picture a home planned carefully around those pines, in a residential setting that blends new houses with the open land around it. Well worth a visit.
