Description
Close to the heart of Trimiklini, this residential plot keeps village life within easy reach. Restaurants and cafés sit right beside it, and the supermarket and local shops are an easy walk away, so everyday errands never need the car.

The land extends to 1,477 m² and has a long frontage onto a public road, giving it direct road access. Its residential zoning allows a home of up to two floors, so you can shape a house around the way you want to live, whether you picture clean contemporary lines or a design that echoes the village around it.

The neighbourhood mixes existing homes with parcels still waiting for their own plans, giving the area a settled residential feel while leaving it room to grow.

Picture a morning coffee at the café next door, a short stroll for groceries, and then home to a house built entirely to your own design, all within easy reach of the village centre.
