Description
Just outside the village of Koili, this agricultural field covers 10,703 m² and has direct road access along one of its borders. Farmland and undeveloped parcels surround it, keeping the setting open and rural, well away from dense building.

The agricultural zoning suits farming and planting. The village centre is a short drive away, as are Tala and Peyia, and the Limassol–Paphos Motorway is within a drive for travel across the district. This is a sizeable piece of farmland in the Paphos countryside, with its own road along the edge.
