Description
Village life sets the pace in Kampos, and this three-bedroom house places you right in the middle of it. The village centre is only a short walk away, the house sits among homes in a residential setting, and parks and green spaces are within easy walking reach for an evening stroll.

Inside, the layout is simple and easy to live with. A living room and a kitchen form the everyday heart of the home, where meals and conversation come together. Three bedrooms give each member of the household a room of their own, and a bathroom completes the plan. The house stands on its own plot in the village.

Weekends can lead further into the hills. Kykkos Monastery and the nature spot of Tripylos are both a drive away, ready for a day of history or fresh air before you head home to the village.

A family home in the heart of Kampos, with village life just beyond the front door. Well worth a visit.
