Description
Substance over show sets the tone in Panagia Evangelistria, on the working side of Dali. Industrial premises share the area with open, undeveloped parcels, and the neighbourhood has the steady, purposeful feel of a place where business gets done.

Here lies a compact field of 440 m² in an industrial zone. Its zoning points plainly to business use, giving an uncomplicated, modest piece of land for plans that belong among working neighbours rather than on a residential street.

One point to weigh: the land has no direct road access on site.

The wider area keeps everyday life within easy reach. Latsia is a short drive away, and the ancient heritage site of Idalion lies close by, a reminder of the long history of this corner of the Nicosia district. A grounded, practical piece of land in a part of Dali already shaped by industry.
