For Sale : € 8,500

Description
On the edge of Pigenia, close to the village centre and with the sea not far away, this field sits in a landscape-led setting where a scattering of homes shares the ground with open, undeveloped parcels. It is a place shaped more by countryside than by dense building, with the everyday life of the village close at hand.

The land lies in a residential zone, so its natural use is a home, and up to two floors may be built here. Picture a house rising among the neighbouring dwellings, with the village shops, cafés and services a short drive away, and nearby Mosfili and Agios Theodoros Tillirias adding to the local fabric of small communities.

Further afield, Pomos Reservoir is a drive away for time among water and greenery, and the Gialia Monastery brings a touch of heritage to the wider area. It is a corner of Cyprus where village rhythm and open landscape sit side by side.

The road shown along one boundary exists on paper only and has not been built on site. The sale is a 1/9 share of the field. What remains is residential land in a village setting, with the sea and the countryside both within reach.
