

For Sale, Land, Field, Paphos, Kouklia, 10,536m²

For Sale : € 0

Description

Residential field in Kouklia community, in Paphos District. It is situated at a distance of approximately 1,5 km east from the center of the community. The wider area of the property indicates an increase in residential development in the recent years, with the construction of luxury houses complexes such as the Aphrodite Hills and the Venus Rock. It has a rectangular shape, a slightly sloping surface and abuts onto a registered pathway along its southern boundary. The property has a right of way. The fact that the property enjoys a partial view is considered as an advantage. In addition, the low building density factor is a guarantee for an organized residential development. The property is suitable for plot division or for a unified residential development and it is considered as an ideal choice for a land developer. The property is not being sold as a single unit.
