Description
Village life in Koilani unfolds just a short way from this residential field of 6,355 m², set on sloping ground close to the centre of the community. Around it lies the authentic character of a Limassol hill village, with the cafés and restaurants of the village a short drive away and neighbouring Vouni nearby. Most of the land falls within a residential zone, offering room for a home, while a smaller part is agricultural and suits farming. Its irregular outline follows the natural incline of the ground, giving it a shape of its own. The land has no direct road access. A sizeable piece of Koilani, held within the calm rhythm and genuine surroundings of village life.
