Description
Village life with Nicosia within easy reach: this residential field in Palaiometocho, Cyprus, offers 2000 m² of level ground in a setting where everyday needs sit close at hand. Its almost rectangular shape and flat surface give a straightforward, well-proportioned canvas for planning a home on residential land.

All the essentials are a short drive away. The village centre, schools, supermarkets and shops, cafés and restaurants, medical centres and pharmacies are all nearby, so family routines stay simple. Main roads and motorway junctions put the capital and the wider district within comfortable reach, while the green spaces of Lefkovounos and Korakas offer a closer connection to nature when the week winds down.

Palaiometocho blends authentic Cypriot village life with practical convenience, a community with a strong local identity rather than dense urban development. Here, a generous, level plot meets a welcoming village setting, and that balance is what makes it worth imagining your future home on this land.
