Description
Everyday life is easy in this semi-detached house for sale in Agios Konstantinos & Elenis, a residential neighbourhood of Dali where schools, banks, shops and supermarkets are all close at hand. The village centre, cafés, a park and a sports venue are a short drive away, so errands and weekends never feel like a trek.

The home is laid out entirely on the ground floor, with around 133 m² of comfortable everyday space and a small covered veranda for morning coffee outdoors. It stands on a plot of 323 m², which gives you your own front door and more independence than apartment living. Built in 1992, it offers an honest, practical base to settle into and shape around your household.

Dali sits within a short drive of Latsia and the main motorways linking Nicosia and Limassol, so commuting and coastal trips are both straightforward. History is close too, with the heritage site of Agios Sozomenos nearby and ancient Idalion a little further. Single-level living in an established community, with the capital and the coast within easy reach.
