For Sale : € 20,000

Description
Palaiometocho blends everyday village life with easy reach of the capital, and this residential field sits right in the thick of it. Supermarkets, shops and schools are all within walking distance, while the main roads are just a stroll away, keeping daily routines refreshingly simple.

The land is level and neatly rectangular, an uncomplicated shape that makes planning a family home feel straightforward. Being zoned for residential use, it offers the chance to create a home in an established village setting rather than a dense urban one.

Beyond the essentials, restaurants, cafés and the village centre are a short drive away, as are petrol stations, a sports venue and motorway junctions for quick trips across the island. Nature spots in the surrounding countryside are also close by, giving weekends a welcome change of pace. Medical centres and pharmacies are a little further afield.

This sale is for a one-quarter share of the field. Level ground, a residential setting and amenities you can reach on foot make this a well-balanced foothold in one of Nicosia's most practical villages.
