Description
Authentic Cypriot village life sits within easy reach of the capital here. This residential field in Alampra spreads across a generous 2342 m², with a gently sloping surface and an irregular outline that gives the land a natural, unforced character.

Residential zoning points towards a home of your own, set in a traditional village setting rather than the dense streets of the city. The village centre is a short drive away, as are schools, supermarkets and shops, cafés and restaurants. Neighbouring Pera Chorio and Agia Varvara add further everyday choice, and parks and green spaces are close by for weekend walks.

Getting around is simple. Both Nicosia and Limassol are within reach, with the motorway and its junctions only a short drive from the village. Petrol stations and public service offices are nearby, and local football fans will find Chalkanoras Stadium close at hand.

An uncomplicated, generously sized piece of residential land, where the slower pace of Alampra and the main routes across the island sit comfortably side by side.
