Description
High in the Limassol hills, Dierona offers authentic Cypriot village life at a slower pace, with the cooler summers that draw people up from the coast. This field on higher ground in Dierona gives you a small, manageable piece of that setting, with 335 m² of land zoned for residential use.

The residential zoning opens the way to a home of your own in a landscape-led setting, well away from dense urban development. It is an uncomplicated plot in size, simple to picture and easy to plan around, in a village with a strong local identity.

Daily life stays practical. Neighbouring Arakapas and Prastio Kellakiou are a short drive away, as are restaurants, cafés, parks and the main roads. A supermarket, a school and sports facilities are within driving distance, and the Nicosia–Limassol motorway brings the city and the coast within reach. The historic Transfiguration of the Saviour Church is also a drive away, a reminder of the area's deep roots.

A residential plot in the hills, where traditional village charm and a closer connection to nature shape every day.
