Description
Village life in Vasa Kellakiou gathers around its church, and this residential field sits right beside it. Here you are part of the community from the very first day, among the homes and lanes of a Limassol village.

The land offers room for a home in a residential setting, and it has direct road access along one of its boundaries. It is irregular in shape and slopes. Some old, economically obsolete buildings stand on it, so any plans would begin with what is already there.

Beyond the village, the open water and greenery of Kalavasos Lake are a short drive away, and the neighbouring villages of Sanida and Vikla are close by for a change of scene. Schools, cafés and restaurants are also within a short drive, keeping everyday errands simple.

A small corner of Vasa Kellakiou, close to the church and to the heart of village life, waiting for the home you have in mind.
