Description
In the village of Nisou, this three-bedroom semi-detached home keeps everything on one level, giving the day an easy, unhurried rhythm. Built around 1960 and completely renovated around 2015, it pairs the solid roots of an older house with a refreshed interior.

At its heart is an open-plan living room and kitchen with a dining area, the natural gathering place for family meals and long conversations. Three bedrooms follow, the main one with its own shower room, alongside a family bathroom and a guest toilet, so busy mornings run smoothly.

Outside, three covered verandas offer shaded spots to sit with a morning coffee or watch the evening settle in, while the yard gives you room to step out into the open air. A covered parking space keeps the car out of the sun, and the level plot has direct road access.

Everyday errands stay simple, with supermarkets and schools a short drive away. The house stands vacant and ready for its next chapter: a renovated single-level home where the verandas invite you to linger.
