For Sale : € 690,000

Description
In the established residential neighbourhood of Agios Antonios, cafés, restaurants and everyday shops sit right beside you, and the University of Cyprus is within walking distance. Central Nicosia is easy to reach, which makes this a practical base for city living all year round.

This residential plot of 692 m² has direct road access. An older house, built in 1975 and now obsolete, stands on the land today. The residential zoning allows a new building of up to four floors, so you can set your own design priorities from the very start.

Picture a home shaped around your own plans, in a part of the capital where a morning coffee, the weekly shop and a stroll to the university campus all fit into an ordinary day.

A city plot with room to build upward, in a neighbourhood where daily life is close at hand.
