For Sale : € 105,000

Description
Athienou keeps the steady, familiar rhythm of a Larnaca village, and this residential field sits within reach of its everyday life, with the local primary school a short way off. It is a setting where a home could grow out of village routines rather than apart from them.

The land is sizeable at 6,680 m², and its residential zoning gives it room for a home. Starting from open ground means the choices are yours from the first sketch: the layout, the materials and the finish, whether your taste leans towards clean contemporary lines or a more traditional village look.

Think of school mornings that stay simple, with the classroom close by, and of a house shaped around the way you want to live. The sale is of a 41.67% share of the field.

A large piece of residential land in a village with a living heart, waiting for the home you have in mind.
