Description
On one of the busiest streets in Nicosia, where homes and businesses share the same stretch, this corner shop in Agioi Omologites puts a business where people pass every day. Public service offices sit right beside it, along with restaurants and cafés, so the street keeps a steady flow of locals, workers and visitors.

The ground floor is a generous space laid out with kitchens, a dining area and hygiene facilities. Below it, a basement holds a storage area and management offices, so stock and paperwork have a home of their own, away from the customer-facing floor.

The corner position gives the shop presence on a busy street, and the two levels leave room for staff, clients and stock, each in its own place. Supermarkets, shops and pharmacies are within walking distance, which makes everyday errands simple for anyone working here.

A corner shop on a busy Nicosia street, with a ground floor and a basement working together. Come and see it for yourself.
