Description
Schools, cafés and medical centres are all within walking distance of this three-storey house in Aglantzia. It sits among residential homes, with easy reach of Nicosia's city centre.

Built in 2011, the house spreads its rooms over three levels. On the ground floor, an open-plan living and dining area sits beside a kitchen, two bedrooms and a bathroom. The first floor has its own open-plan kitchen, dining and living space, along with an en-suite bedroom and a guest toilet. The top floor holds two more bedrooms, a further living area and a bathroom.

Laminate parquet runs throughout, the windows are double glazed, and provisions are in place for split units. A veranda gives you a place outdoors for a morning coffee or an evening meal.

With five bedrooms, three living areas and two kitchens, there is room for everyone to gather together or to find a corner of their own. Everyday life in Aglantzia is close at hand, in a residential neighbourhood with the city within easy reach.
