Description
On a busy commercial street in the Agios Theodoros quarter of Paphos, lined with shops, showrooms, offices and apartments, this shop places a business where people already come and go. Restaurants and cafés sit right beside it, and the city centre is within walking distance.

Three ground-floor retail units have been joined into a single large space. A mezzanine above adds a second level to work with. The open shop floor leaves plenty of freedom to plan a layout that suits the business, whether it needs generous display space or room to welcome customers.

Main roads link the street with every part of Paphos, so getting around town is straightforward. The wider area is well developed, with homes and mixed-use buildings alongside hotels and touristic developments, giving the neighbourhood a mix of everyday residents and visitors.

A large, adaptable shop floor on a busy commercial street, a short walk from the heart of Paphos.
