For Sale : € 237,000

Description
In the village of Anageia, where farmland and open parcels shape the wider landscape, this sizeable field offers room for a home with space all around it. Schools are within walking distance, and the village centre is a short drive away, so everyday life stays close at hand.

The land covers 5,352 m². It is flat and even, with a rather rectangular shape that makes it easy to imagine a house sitting comfortably on it. Its residential zoning allows a home of up to two floors. A short stretch of frontage at one corner gives the land direct road access, and a footpath runs along one side. Electricity, water and telecommunications can be brought to the site.

Picture a family home on this level ground, with the agricultural countryside of the Nicosia district around it and the village life of Anageia close by. Here, open space and village living sit side by side.

It is a generous, level piece of residential land in a village setting, waiting for the home you have in mind.
